Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1,3-7,9,12-31 and 33-51 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claim 1 discloses a digital communication device for identifying and communicating with other digital communication devices within a communication range, comprising:

a transmitter configured to transmit a first control signal and a first voice signal directly to other digital communication devices without utilizing fixed towers to re-transmit the first control signal and the first voice signal;

a receiver configured to receive a second control signal and a second voice signal directly from at least one of the other digital communication devices without utilizing fixed towers to re-transmit the second control signal and the second voice signal;

a computational unit configured to control the transmitter to periodically transmit identifying information as the first control signal, the first control signal being received as remote identifying information by the other digital communication devices within the communication range;

a user interface having a display area for displaying information corresponding to at least a portion of the second control signal of received from the other digital communication devices, wherein the information is displayed on the display area as a list selectable by a user to create a selected set of digital communication devices;

a speaker configured to output the second voice signal received by the receiver; and a microphone configured to receive a voice communication from the user, wherein the user interface includes a transmit button, and the computational unit is configured to control the transmitter and the microphone to transmit the voice communication as the first voice signal while the transmit button is selected by the user to the selected set of digital communication devices, wherein the first voice signal is received by the other digital communication devices within the communication range, and wherein the voice communication is output exclusively on the speaker of the selected set of digital communication devices within the communication range.

Claim 48 A method for identifying and communicating with digital communication devices within a communication range, comprising:

transmitting identifying information as a first control signal periodically directly to other digital communication devices without utilizing fixed towers to re-transmit the control signal; receiving at least one second control signal as remote identifying information corresponding to the digital communication devices within the communication range directly from other digital communication devices without utilizing fixed towers to re-transmit the control signal and a voice signal; displaying, on a display area, information corresponding to at least a portion of the remote identifying information on received from the digital communication devices within the communication range, wherein the information corresponding to the remote identifying information is displayed as a list selectable by a user to create a selected set of digital communication devices; capturing a voice communication via a microphone; and transmitting the voice communication as a voice signal while a transmit button is selected by the user to the selected set of digital communication devices;

wherein receiving the voice signal is received by the selected set of digital communication devices and the voice communication is output exclusively on the speaker of the selected set of digital communication devices.

The examiner notes that the claimed invention only reads on digital devices that communicate with one another directly without retransmitting to any other network infrastructure or intermediary. The prior art of records fail to teach all of the above limitations in combination with the underlined limitations of the independent claims 1 and 48. Therefore, the claims are allowed based on the Remarks filed on 4/23/07.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
